

Editorial Content Guidelines:

Mission Statement:

The mission of Community Lifestyles is to deliver “Good News” to the greater Rochester area; to promote good things about the community; to share interesting stories and events that promote the greater Rochester community; and to deliver the free publication in a format that is appropriate for all ages.

Editorial Content Guidelines:

Community Lifestyles is focused on covering the following Core Topics for the greater Rochester area:

- “Good News” in our community (see map).
- Events in our circulation area (see map).
- Rochester Community School news, academics, music, sports, etc.
- Good news about residents, businesses, non-profits and employees working in our circulation area.
- “Community Happenings,” such as support groups, organizations/meetings that enhance our community.

On occasion, Community Lifestyles will publish “Good News” written by guest contributors who submit information regarding an event or one of our Core Topics.

Community Lifestyles retains the right to not publish content that is divisive or does not adhere to the Core Topics.

Community Lifestyles has the right to remove editorial content due to space requirements.

Community Lifestyles has the right to review and reject content that is submitted and is not in line with our Core Topics.

Community Lifestyles is not accepting Letters to the Editor, Op-ed submissions or new columns at this time. Please check this page frequently to see when that restriction may be updated.

For questions, concerns or comments about Community Lifestyles’ editorial guidelines, contact the editor at communitylifestyles@inbox.com or call 248-651-8700.

For advertising guidelines, inquiries or submissions, contact info@communitylifestyles.com or call 248-651-8700.